NIGHT SHIFT WORKERS AT GENER AL ELECTRIC RIVER WORKS PLANT
Leave Jobs Early Today to Join in Strike for Wage Increase
INP by Harold Williams

More than 30,000 Massachusetts electrical workers, part of a nationwide walkout of 200,000 union members, went on strike today for wage increases and other benefits, shutting down all General Electric and Westinghouse plants in the state.

Mass picketing was started at all plants at the beginning of the day shift but there was no disorder as the striking members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (CIO) swelled the mounting wave of labor unrest sweeping through New England.

Affected by the walkout were the sprawling River Works and West Lynn plants and the Allerton st. plant in Lynn; the huge Pittsfield plant; the supercharger plant and foundry plant in Everett and other General Electric properties in East Boston, Taunton and Fitchburg.

Also shut down was the Westinghouse plant in East Springfield, while elsewhere in New England the strike effectively closed the large GE plant at Bridgeport and two divisions of Westinghouse in the same city and a smaller GE plant in Providence.

An additional 500 workers were on strike at a Meriden, Ct., GE plant to bring the total striking electrical workers in New England to more than 40,000.

At noon, Anthony Frasca of the Lynn local announced "not a wheel is turning in any GE plant and none will turn until the battle is over."

There were reports, however, some 1000 nonunion employes, who made no attempt to report for duty today, had been asked by company officials to go to work tomorrow. Union officials said they had heard no such reports but added no one would be permitted to cross picket lines without union passes.

In a statement after the strike began, Nicholas M. DuChemin, manager of the West Lynn plant, expressed regret at the first walkout in his experience with the company. He appealed to employes to avoid unpleasant incidents "lest they inflict wounds which might not heal in our generation."

The strike, involving GE, Westinghouse and General Motors electrical divisions in 16 states extending from Massachusetts to California, pulled the 200,000 union members as well as white collar workers off their jobs with the precision of a well-executed military maneuver.

Police were on hand at all struck plants to prevent any disorder but chiefs in various cities reported picketing in all cases was quiet and orderly and no trouble was anticipated. Both union and company representatives in the various cities had agreed to do everything possible to prevent disorder.

The latest strike came as Brig. Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Conciliation

Meat Cutters' Strike Ordered for Midnight

CHICAGO, Jan. 15 (AP)—The AFL Meat Cutters' Union notified its 500 local units today to strike at 12:01 a. m. Wednesday against six large meat packing companies.

"Every effort on the part of our international officials to avoid a nationwide meat packing strike has been unsuccessful," union officials said in telegrams to locals.

"Offers thus far made by the four large packers cannot possibly be accepted. They are grossly inadequate."

The telegrams went out as government conciliators proceeded with last minute conferences with union and management officials to halt the strike, originally called by the CIO United Packinghouse Workers.

The CIO union claims 193,000 members, the AFL 135,000.

AFL officials said 75,000 members of their union would strike at plants of Armour & Co.; Swift & Co.; Wilson & Co., Cudahy Packing Co.; Kingan Packing Co., Indianapolis, and John oMrrell Co., Ottumwa, Ia.

"Our international union is obligated that there shall be no spoilage of perishable products," telegrams said. "All such perishables must be cared for and the premises as well as the departments must be left in sanitary condition."

Edgar L. Warren, chief of the conciliation service, summoned disputants for discussions on the wage issue. There were reports from Washington government officials reportedly had offered additional price relief as a basis for settlement of the dispute.

The CIO United Packinghouse Workers Union originally had asked 25 cents an hour but cut its demand to 17½ cents.

Meatless Week-End Certain for Boston

Boston is in for a meatless week-end, regardless of developments in the Chicago strike. Threat of a new strike here by Drivers of Local 25, AFL, has halted many meat shipments to this vicinity.

Wholesalers yesterday received only half their normal supplies for the week due to the strike threat. Two of the largest Chicago packers curtailed shipments drastically in fear of having to re-route cars while in transit, if the strike developed. They also said the meat would probably spoil if it arrived here without drivers to deliver it.

U. S. Conciliator E. Frank Ward has been meeting with officials of Local 25, P. Harry Jennings, its International representative, and John Sullivan, business agent, since Friday.

Today he held another meeting with the union men and Ralph H. Cahouet, head of the Employers Group of Motor Freight Carriers, Inc., at the Boston City Club, but would not divulge the negotiations.

He said no date had been set for a strike but market men reported one had been set for last week-end, then changed to Feb. 3.

The union officials also refused to comment until negotiations had either bogged down or been settled in their favor. A large concern employing many drivers said the men had asked for a 40-hour week for 48 hours' pay, time and a half for hours worked before 8 in the morning, and additional vacation pay.

In the meantime, CIO local No. 165 of United Packing House Workers of America announced that 1000 employes of the John P. Squire Co. of Somerville will walk out tomorrow if the Chicago strike is not cancelled tonight.

President William J. Hosford said the workers are asking an increase of 25 cents per hour, but will settle for 17½ cents now if the company will negotiate the other 7½ cents.

Packing house workers of the New England Dressed Meat and Wool Co., CIO local 189, will hold a meeting tonight in Cypress Hall, Cambridge, to plan a walkout tomorrow.

Strike Shuts 23 Schools in Flint

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 15 (AP)—A strike of 190 maintenance workers today closed 23 of the city's 44 public school buildings and shut down classrooms for an estimated 85 per cent of the 27,000 pupils.

Strikers, members of Local 21, CIO State, County and Municipal Workers Union, are demanding a 10-cent hourly pay raise, union recognition and a union shop.

Casper P. Kenny, CIO local field representative, said by tomorrow the 21 school buildings still operating would be shut down. Strikers have agreed to keep boilers operating to prevent heating systems freezing.

Bobby Sox Girl Pickets Sing, Dance

Carefree bobby soxers, wives of veterans and widowed mothers—some of them deadly serious and others out for a lark and a holiday—were in the ranks of women who today picketed General Electric plants in Lynn.

The bobby soxers danced and sang, and took time out every once in awhile to go skating on nearby Ice. They were gaily clad in bright handerchiefs, scarves and brilliant colored socks.

Included among the youngsters were Mildred Zinner, 20, of Ashland st., Lynn; Patricia Lawless, 19, of Charlotte st., Peabody, and Betty Mavrokas, 20, of Loring ave., Salem.

It was no laughing matter, however, for Mrs. Pauline DeLude of Flower st., Salem, mother of six children.

"I make from $22 to $27 a week," she told reporters. "My oldest daughter, 17, is the only other one in the family earning anything. I'm afraid we are in for serious times."

Another who manned the picket lines without any grins was Mrs. Maria Berlan, 28, of Claremont st., Malden, wife of a recently discharged serviceman.

"My husband got out of the Army in November and he's looked everywhere for work without finding it," she said. "I get about $22 a week and we need every cent of it."

Ship With 589 Troops Calls Aid in Atlantic Gale

Damaged by heavy seas and a gale, the S. S. Henry Baldwin, bringing home 589 troops from Europe, today radioed for help from a position 300 miles southeast of Cape Race, Newfoundland. Both Navy and Coast Guard rescue craft were speeding to the scene, according to the Navy and Coast Guard here, and Canadian craft also were reported in the rescue race.

"Developed plate crack in the starboard side of the afterdeck. Extremely heavy westerly seas," was the message received at 7:35 a. m. at Radio Marshfield, Navy station. The vessel, a Liberty ship, was en route to New York from Antwerp.

At Argentia, Newfoundland, big American naval base, vessels of Command Task Force 24 were ordered to the rescue and the Coast Guard reported the cutter Modoc also had been dispatched. Naval vessels en route were not identified.

The call for assistance was relayed from Marshfield to headquarters in New York and then to Argentia.

The Army port of embarkation in New York said troops aboard included: 2838th Engineer Petroleum Distribution Co.; medical detachment, 460th Engineers; D Co.; medical detachment, 66th Medical Depot Co.; 3631st and 3884th Quartermaster Truck Co.; casuals; one medical officer and medical casuals.

Kimmel Blames Navy

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (INS)—Adm. Husband E. Kimmel told the Pearl Harbor committee he might have "ambushed" the Jap fleet in 1941 if the Navy Department had not misled him by withholding information pointing toward the sneak attack. The deposed Hawaiian commander opened his long-awaited "day in court" with a 108-page statement charging the Navy Department denied his Pacific fleet a "fighting chance."

Kimmel branded the Navy's failure to tell him all that it learned from intercepted Jap messages as an "affirmative misrepresentation."

Kimmel, publicly silent since the 1942 Roberts commission accused him of dereliction of duty, argued before the Congressional investigators that:

1—Intercepted and decoded Jap messages which he did not get from Washington—including one charting Pearl Harbor by areas—"told when and where Japan would probably strike." Kimmel said this knowledge would have caused him to change his estimate of the situation.

2—The Navy's "war warning" message of Nov. 27, 1941, did not warn him of a raid on Hawaii and "cannot be made a catch-all for all the contingencies hindsight may suggest."

3—Kimmel never had enough planes for regular distant reconnaisance from Hawaii.

4—Nevertheless, Navy planes searched 2,000,000 square miles of the Pacific the week preceding the Dec. 7 attack. A 400-mile daily search from Oahu was carried out the first four days of that week.

5—If he had received all of Washington's information he would have taken his fleet to sea and attempted to intercept any approaching enemy force.

6—The Navy Department suggested sending two carrier forces to outlying islands, eliminating air protection for his battleships. Thus the battleships were safest in Pearl Harbor. Kimmel concluded the Navy did not expect an attack on Hawaii.

7—The Nov. 27 message ordering "defensive deployment" and a dispatch Nov. 29 meant, under existing war plans, to prepare to move against the Marshall Islands. Kimmel said there was "not a hint in these two dispatches of any danger in the Hawaiian area."

8—The fleet's fuel problem prevented Kimmel from keeping his entire force at sea indefinitely. The fleet had 11 tankers, but would have needed 75.

Kimmel asserted:

"The Pacific fleet deserved a fighting chance. It was entitled to receive from the Navy Department the best information available, as urgently requested. I had been assured it would be furnished me. We faced our problems in the

Tobin Hears Bus Airport Pleas

Gov. Tobin was to meet late this afternoon with spokesmen for the Elevated, Chamber of Commerce, airlines companies and other groups for a conference on bus transportation to the Logan airport, a controversial issue since the El was refused state authority to provide such transportation.

All airline companies using the airport have urged the El be given a certificate of convenience and necessity in accordance with its petition. It would operate buses for a 25-cent fare, 25 passengers to a bus, with accommodations for luggage.

The Public Utilities Commission turned it down by a 3-to-2 vote along partisan lines, three Democratic votes, two Republican.

The Sutcliffe Storage & Warehouse Co., which was granted a certificate, is operating eight-passenger limousines for 75 cents per passenger. The company was to be represented at this afternoon's conference.

Blast in Mine Traps 192

WELCH, W. Va., Jan. 15 (AP)—Seventy-five coal miners miraculously escaped alive today after a tremendous blast in No. 9 Havaco mine near here, but the fate of 192 others was in doubt as recuers drove into the smoke and dust-filled workings.

A state mine inspector said 267 men were in the mine when the explosion occurred.

The force was so terrific Negro pupils in a school house and workers in the store and office of the New River and Pocahontas Consolidated Coal Co., from 500 to 1000 feet away, were injured by shattered glass and debris.

About half of those coming from the mine alive walked up the steps of a 400-foot slope, which remained intact although the tipple appeared to be a total wreck.

Hospitals of this town were quickly filled.

Edward Mullins and his son, James told newsmen they were the first to reach the surface.

The father said they were at work about one mile inside when they heard the blast and started running. They said the workings immediately became so dark from smoke and dust that they had to stoop over and train their lights on the steel mine rails in order to find their way to the opening.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—A Bureau of Mines official said this afternoon he had been informed that "more than 200" miners had come out alive from the Welch mine and that five others were known to be dead and 15 injured taken to hospitals.

A Short Shorts Story

The reason he happened to be standing in a Spring st., West End, doorway in the dark of early morning, clutching a burlap bag containing 35 pairs of women's shorts, the man explained, was that a certain person was angry with him.

This so intrigued Patrolman Frank Nigloschy that he said, "Tell me more."

"Just between the two of us," the man said, 'I got this certain party mad at me and he threw the shorts at me. They were in a box. So I took them out of the box and put them in the burlap bag."

Intrigued officers at the Joy st. station were begging him to tell them still more today.

Quiz Pair In Degnan Killing

CHICAGO, Jan. 15—Sought since their bloodstained car was found abandoned in a Fulierton ave. filling station lot, a North Side nurse and her male companion were seized by police today for questioning in the kidnap-murder of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan.

They were apprehended when thew walked arm-in-arm into the man's Fullerton ave. dairy store. The nurse, estranged wife of a Glenview former Navy petty officer, quickly offered an alibi which placed the pair 200 miles west of Chicago the night Suzanne was snatched from her bedroom.

In addition to the bloodstains on the floor mat of the car, police found a freshly washed blanket, a length of wire and a greasy paper resembling that used by the kidnaper demanding $20,000 ransom for Suzanne.

Questioned by Police Capt. John Ryan, the woman said the blood wes spilled on the mat three months ago when she was on a party with two Navy men and a civilian.

"I was drinking in a Lake st. tavern in Glenview where I live," she told police. "We had a lot to drink and when we drove away from the tavern the men got into a terrific battl eand quite a lot of blood was lost.

"I tried to clean it off, but I guess I didn't da a very good job. That's why I washed the blanket, too."

She said the greasy paper had contained "some bacon I bought for my mother." She offered no explanation for the wire, merely shrugging when police quizzed her about it.

While her companion nodded his head in assent, she said they left Chicago about Jan. 4 for a "pleasure trip" to Dubuque, Ia. She said they stayed several days and were in Galena, Ill., on their way back when the Degnan child was slain.

Police said the nurse was the mother of a 14-year-old boy by a previous marriage. Her 45-year-old companion has a wife in Crete, Ill.

Interest turned to the couple when William Langlo, 23, filling station attendant, reported the abandoned car to police. He said the woman "acted nervous" when she left it at the lot.

When police discovered the bloodstains and other suspicious evidence in the car, all officers were ordered to look for the couple.

This latest development came as Mayor Edward J. Kelly asked for 1000 more policemen and the Cook County Democratic Central Committee, putting aside politics, appointed 4000 precinct captains as a vigilante committee to combat crime in Chicago.

Prosecution Flays Curley Group 'Lies'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Engineers Group, Inc., was accused by the government today of fraudulently obtaining thousands of dollars from contractors through an "extravagant front" and "fantastic lies."

John M. Kelley, assistant prosecutor, told a jury the group obtained more than $40,000 in August and September of 1941, but by Oct. 14 the bank balance was $51.38.

"I defy you to go through the checks and find where any of this money was honestly spent" in behalf of the firm's clients, Kelley said.

Summarizing the government's case against James M. Curley, Massachusetts Congressman and mayor of Boston; Donald Wakefield Smith and James G. Fuller, Kelley asserted the group had falsely misrepresented that the District of Columbia commissioners had approved construction of an office building in Washington and that the Federal Housing Administration had approved a 243-dwelling project.

He declared the group thus received $2500 each from two contractors and "they couldn't have gotten one cent without false representations."

Kelley said Engineers Group received $61,740 and "paid back three victims under pressure."

Curley, Kelley continued, endorsed $1000 in hotel credit for Fuller and attempted to obtain a loan for the group from a bank with the understanding that the money would not be drawn on, but this was refused.

Ike Sets July 1 Point Cleanup

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told congressmen today that by April 30 every enlisted man with 45 points or 30 months service will be out of the Army or on the way to separation centers.

By July 1 he said, every enlisted man with 40 points or two years' service will be out or in the process of being discharged.

At present, 50 points or three and a half years' service are required for discharge.

Furthermore, Eisenhower assured an informal meeting of Senators and Representatives at the Congressional Library, "every surplus man will be out right away unless his points are so low that he can replace someone else."

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, also heard, was given a standing ovation when he said the Navy had kept all its demobilization schedules.

Gen. Eisenhower excluded volunteers from the discharge provisions and made plain that Army points are to be computed on the basis of last Sept. 2.

Eisenhower warned that the Army's organization "will collapse" if it demobilizes too fast but pledged that every man eligible for discharge by July 1 will be out of service by that time.

Eisenhower said it was not possible to discharge all men with two years' service by March 20 as originally contemplated.

"It would mean that another 2,000,000 men would be out on that date beyond our expectations," he said. "It would mean such a complete rescramble of our occupational forces as to jeopardize the results of months of work in bringing order out of chaos."

Keeping on the original schedule, he said, also would have meant impairing the Army's ability to care for hospitalized veterans and supply troops abroad. Further, he said, it would have delayed release of eligible veterans because technicians who operate the separation centers would have left the Army.

Eisenhower said the new order on release of men with 30 months of service means the discharge of 2,200,000 men by the end of April, including 500,000 in the Pacific, 400,000 in Europe, 400,000 from other overseas areas or already en route home, and 900,000 now on duty in this country.

Approximately an additional 500,000 will be released by July 1.

"Should we fail to obtain the 1,500,000 men we require on July 1," he added, "something would have to break in the tight little net which we have now woven to perform our job in this country and discharge the nation's overseas commitments.

"If we are not relieved of the still huge supplies of government property entrusted to our custody overseas, we shall have no choice but to abandon them where they lie."

Legislature Gets New Anti-Vivisection Bill

(See Poem and Drawing on Page 16)

A bill on file with the clerk of the House today would outlaw the vivisection of dogs and cats, making any kind of experimentation on such animals punishable by a fine, or imprisonment, or both—unless the experiment was in the interests of the animal's physical welfare.

It was introduced by Rep. Joseph B. Harrington of Salem, acting on his own behalf and for the New England Anti-Vivisection Society, of which former Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen. George R. Farnum is president.

The measure has been referred to the joint legislative committee on legal affairs for a hearing, but the date has not been set. It reads:

"Whoever experiments or operates in any manner whatsoever upon any living dog or cat for any purpose other than the healing or curing of said dog or cat, shall be punished by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment of not less than three months nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

In view of the fact that medical school faculty members have vigorously fought ad similar legislation introduced here, it is expected the hearing will again develop opposition from them this time.

Long Island Socialite 'Cased' Homes For Thief, Police Say

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—An elaborate code involving flashlight signals and telephone dialogue was used by a wealthy Long Island matron in tipping off an ex-convict when to rob the homes of her wealthy friends, authorities charged today. Meanwhile, Mrs. Adelaide Perry, 45, of Babylon, was free under $500 bond posted by her husband, George, a Manhattan stock broker. Her alleged accomplice, Bruno Lucas, 29, discharged soldier, of Chicago, is in jail awaiting grand jury action.

Mrs. Perry is charged with aiding and abetting Lucas, who is charged with two specific burglaries.

Lucas has confessed, it was stated by Asst. Dist. Atty. Jacob Bendersky, and told how Mrs. Perry cased the homes of wealthy friends during visits, telling him later where they kept their money and jewelry.

The ex-convict and the socially-prominent matron worked up a set of signals so she could tell him when it was safe to enter a house, Bendersky said.

Mrs. Perry, mother of two children and a member of the exclusive South Bay Yacht Club set, met Lucas, who spent nine years in an Illinois prison for burglary, at the Mason General Hospital, Islip, L. I. He was a patient there and she visited as a Red Cross Gray Lady "to cheer up the soldiers and take them out for auto rides."

Lucas was arrested late Tuesday, after he was reported seen near the home of Thomas Kerr, a restaurateur, on the night of Jan. 6, when $1000 was stolen.

Two days before the Kerr robbery, the home of Claude A. Bishop was burglarized of $1200 in war bonds, jewelry and bank books.

Since his Army discharge six weeks ago, Lucas lived at the Perry home where he did odd jobs. At first he denied all knowledge of both burglaries, but confessed after interrogation, police said.

In "appreciation" of Mrs. Perry's alleged help in the robberies, the statement continued, he gave her cash, bought her a diamond ring, and escorted her on a tour of night clubs and bars.

Mrs. Perry was arrested Saturday night at a bowling alley as her amazed husband stood by incredulously.

Indignantly denying her guilt, police said, she later admitted complicity in the crimes, after being shown the statement made by Lucas.

Rockport Couple, Mother Fight for Baby's Custody

A recently discharged Coast Guardsman and his wife today sought in Salem probate court to adopt Ann Marie Rasperri, a bright-eyed year-old youngster who has brought them every joy in life since they took her home at the age of five weeks.

The couple are Arthur Richard Erickson, 33, of High st., Rockport, and his wife, Freda. They also seek to change the baby's name to Joy Diane Erickson.

Opposing the petition is the child's mother, Mrs. Alice L. Rasperri of Framingham, wife of a sailor.

"We never had seen the mother until she appeared here in court today," Erickson told Judge John V. Phelan. "We thought of the child as our own and never made inquiries into her background or history. We loved her for herself."

Mrs. Erickson said the baby was undernourished when they got her from a "Mrs. Norman," but that now she is healthy and has learned to call the Ericksons "Mommy" and "Daddy."

The case is continuing.

Neighbor Saves Youth in Flames

LAWRENCE, Jan. 15—Robert P. Pitocchelli, 17, of Bradley st., was saved from flaming death today when a neighbor, S 2c Robert Jalbert, USN, rushed from his home and smothered the youth's flaming clothing.

Pitocchelli had been repairing an automobile and his clothing ignited when a kerosene heater overturned. Doctors at Lawrence General Hospital said he would recover.

$100 Lottery Fine On Blonde's Story

Charles Cobella, 27, of Prince st., North End, was found guilty on lottery charges in municipal court today in the aftermath of an attempt to hire Mrs. Mildred Nuzolo, 27, a West End blonde, as his agent. He was given four months' suspended sentence and fined $100 for an old liquor law violation.

Mrs. Nuzolo

Mrs. Nuzolo, mother of one child, told Judge Charles L. Carr she was made the offer when the defendant and a man she knew only as "Peppi" visited her Chambers st. home to help her recover clothing and jewelry stolen on New Year's Eve.

"Cobella told me I could make money writing numbers," she said. "He told me I could turn in the money at an amusement place in Scollay sq."

Jurors Open Probe of N. Y. Girl Murder

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Jan. 15—The grand jury was due to begin hearing evidence today in support of a first degree murder charge against Mrs. Sonja Leggett, 56, in the torso slaying of Louise De Chants, 20. A plea of innocent was entered for the German-born defendant, arraigned before City Judge Anthony J. LaBelle.

She was ordered held in jail. Dist. Atty. John F. Doyle said the grand jury would report before Friday.

The nude, headless and armless torso of the De Chants girl,

Mrs. Sonja Leggett

Louise De Chants

missing from her Saratoga Springs home since last Wednesday, was found Sunday, partly buried in a shallow grave near a chicken house on the farm seven miles from here where Mrs. Leggett lives with her husband, Clarence. The head, arms and one leg have not been found.

Mrs. Leggett entered the courtroom with Det. Walter Ahrens, who, with Patrolman Dominick Isolde, had found the torso. She was not represented by counsel. After Judge LaBelle entered an automatic not guilty plea for her, she left with Ahrens, grabbing his arm when she faltered.

Her husband, whom Dist. Atty. Doyle said Mrs. Leggett had absolved of all knowledge of the slaying, was not in court.

In a statement, Doyle said, Mrs. Leggett related that Miss De Chants died at the Leggett farm home following an altercation during which she struck the girl, who fell and struck her head on a dresser.

MAJOR AND MRS. EVERETT S. COFRAN
Boston Army Officer Brutally Slain in Germany

Kin of Slain Major Hit Notification Lag

Mrs. Florence Smith of Chestnut st., Beacon Hill, mother of Maj. Everett S. Cofran, 41, former prominent Boston architect and one of three AMG officers slain in a burning house in Passau, Germany, had received his last letter only a few days before learning of his death, it was disclosed today.

In the letter, Maj. Cofran told his mother that he expected to be home in a few weeks.

His widow, Mrs. Alfreda Thomas Cofran, a native of Bermuda, was living in Washington pending his return. His sister, Mrs. Maxwell Sykes of Andover st., Billerica, charged the War Department with failure to notify her sister-in-law of the major's death before the family heard of it.

Army officials investigating the triple torch murder said "no definite motive" has been uncovered yet, according to the Associated Press. They denied reports of widespread black market activities in the area.

Several Americans were included among the persons under questioning. Officers said no evidence of German resistance activity had been uncovered in the case.

The other victims were said to be Capt. Adrian Wesseler of New Rochelle, N. Y., from the Regensburg Military Government Detachment, and Lt. Stanley Rosewater of Omaha, Neb.

No details were being given out by the military, but guards were doubled around billets in the Passau area, and all American troops have been ordered to carry arms at all times.

Stating that the family had formerly lived in School st., Belmont, and earlier in Green st., Jamaica Plain, Mrs. Sykes said her brother had met and won his bride while designing the Royal British Yacht Club in Bermuda.

The subcommittee, including J. E. Fogarty (D.) of Rhode Island and G. J. Bates (R.) of Massachusetts, leaves by plane tomorrow for western Japan and will visit Kyoto, Sasebo and Nagasaki, thence to China.

72 School Panes Broken in Quincy

Vandals smashed 72 windows of the Qincy School, Newbury st., Atlantic, last night, hurling so many rocks through the panes that Custodian William T. Higgins filled a peck measure with them in cleaning up.

Residents of three houses in the neighborhood complained to police that stones had been thrown through their windows during the night.

Classes at the grammar school were held as usual, with cardboard and other material being used as window fillers.

A-Bomb Use Urged As UNO Peace Club

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—The suggestion atomic weapons be used to aid the proposed world police force in keeping the peace was made today by N. J. O. Makin, Australian naval minister and head of the Australian delegation to the United Nations Assembly.

He issued a statement on the subject as an Iranian representative told delegates conditions in his strife-ridden country, now jointly occupied by Russia and Britain, might present the new world peace agency with a test of its ability to maintain friendly relations among nations.

Makin said: "There is nothing in the natre of atomic weapons which excludes them from the general terms of the charter in regard to the contribution of armed forces, assistance and facilities."

Australia is a member of the UNO security council, which will set up the international police force.

Addressing the assembly, Seyd Hassan Taquizadeh, Iranian ambassador to London, announced: "We have reluctantly agreed at the last moment" not to force the issue of Iran at this time.

"But," he declared, "if this problem comes before you it would undoubtedly constitute a test case of the most explicit kind for the organization to manifest its fair spirit in dealing with it and in protecting vital rights of its members."

Boston Waits UNO Capital Site Choosers

State and civic officials prepared today for the visit of the inspection group seeking a site for world headquarters of the United Nations Organization, scheduled to arrive in Boston tomorrow to view prospective Bay State locations.

An advance clerical staff was busy today arranging quarters in Hotel Statler which will be occupied by the inspection committee during its six-day stay.

Gov. Tobin will welcome the group.

The committee headquarters at the Statler will be in charge of Huntington Gilchrist, former Bostonian, who is chief secretary for the committee. He will be assisted by H. W. Dwight Rudd, local insurance executive serving as associate secretary for the Massachusetts area.

Cpl. John Blake of the State Police has been assigned as State aide to the group. Police Supt. Edward W. Fallon will have personal charge of the police detail that will escort the group while here.

The visitors will be escorted from the airport to the hotel via the Sumner tunnel and Hanover, Tremont, Boylston and Arlington sts. At 4 p. m. the group will call upon Gov. Tobin at the State House, and on Mayor Curley at City Hall at 4:30.

Gov. Tobin will present the UNO committee with a prospectus outlining the advantages of Middlesex Fells as a headquarters site. This was submitted by representatives of eight adjoining communities.

Mrs. F. D. Favors Italy Joining UNO

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, in her first general press conference since the United Nations Assembly convened, said today she felt Nazi satellite nations such as Italy should be admitted to the UNO "as soon as they are qualified."

She did not elaborate.

Asked what she thought of the suggestion Winston Churchill be secretary-general of the United Nations, the former American First Lady said, "I hardly think Mr. Churchill would like that suggestion."

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—It's not a woman's show in Central Hall.

Of the 185 United Nations Organization delegates representing 51 nations, only five are women—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Miss Ellen Wilkinson, British minister of education; Miss Jean R. McKenzie of New Zealand, Miss Minerva Bernardino of the Dominican Republic and Mrs. Evdokia Uralova, people's commissioner for education in White Russia.

Star attraction is still Mrs. Roosevelt. Crowds gather daily to watch her arrive and depart. Even hard-bitten British newsmen can be seen getting her autograph on cards.

Slain Man's Mother Fails In Plea for Imogene Trial

HARTFORD, Ct., Jan. 15 (AP)—Gov. Raymond E. Baldwin today told the mother of Albert Kovacs, slain 19-year-old Norwalk sailor, that the only recourse in her appeal for reopening of the case against Mrs. Imogene Stevens, admitted killer of the youth, was through the courts.

Baldwin granted the sorrowing, mourning-clad Mrs. John Kovacs and three of her four surviving sons an interview in the executive chambers which lasted an hour and 15 minutes but said he was powerless to intervene.

Mrs. Kovacs declined to discuss her interview with the governor, saying it had been agreed any statement would come from Baldwin.

The governor said the Kovacs had discussed with him what they believed to be "new evidence." He said, however, that he had agreed to send to Chief Justice William M. Maltbie a petition seeking reopening of the case which Mrs. Kovacs brought with her and which she said was signed by 6000 persons.

The 24-year-old Mrs. Stevens, wife of Maj. George Ralsey Stevens, shot and killed Albert Kovacs when, she contended, he refused to leave the home of her next door neighbor, Charles Milton, in New Canaan, last June. Arrested on a charge of manslaughter, the case against her was dropped on the grounds that the state lacked sufficient evidence.

Truce Violated, China Reds Say

CHUNGKING, Jan. 15 (AP)—Chou-En-Lau, No. 2 Chinese Communist, today seeking a meeting with Gen. Marshall, was reported ready to complain against alleged government violations of the recent civil strife truce agreement.

Chou's move followed a Communist charge that government forces "ferociously attacked" Kwangshan, Communist-held highway center in Southeastern Honan Province.

A government spokesman, denying the charge, reported federal forces had halted military operations at the Sunday midnight deadline, "except where forced to fight in self-defense."

Truth Is Out--Liner Athenia Sunk by U-Boat

NUERNBERG, Germany, Jan. 15 (AP)—An affidavit by Grand Adm Karl Doenitz, introduced before the international military tribunal, today exploded the German myth that the British liner Athenia was sunk by the British themselves in 1939 in a plot to push the United States into the war.

Great Britain demanded the conviction of Doenitz, successor to Adolf Hitler as fuehrer of Germany, as a "murderer" for U-boat attacks on helpless sailors in lifeboats and for ordering the ruthless shooting of commandos.

The affidavit, signed by Doenitz Nov. 17, 1945, said the Athenia was sunk by the German submarine U-30 on the day Britain entered the war. On board were 1500 passengers, some of them Americans.

As the prosecution denounced Doenitz, the cold, aloof admiral dropped his pose of indifference for the first time and cursed and defended himself in mutterings with other defendants.

The British, also prosecuting Grand Adm. Erich Raeder, Doenitz' predecessor as German navy commander, introduced a captured Nazi document in which Raeder asserted Hitler's ideal year for attacking England was 1944 and the German navy was caught short by the outbreak of war in 1939.

Strikes

tion and Arbitration, moved for peace in the walkout of steel workers yesterday from four Worcester plants and a fifth plant in Whitinsville.

Gen. Cole, after contacting both company and union representatives, announced a schedule of conference to be held at the State House tomorrow and Friday. The issues are local in character and not connected with the nationwide steel walkout postponed until next week.

At Lynn, where Mayor Albert E. Cole failed to halt the strike in a last-minute appeal to GE President Charles E. Wilson, workers began gathering at union headquarters as early as 5 a. m. and moved into picket lines around the three Lynn plants an hour later.

Third shift workers walked off the job promptly at 7 a. m., refusing to "slush" their machines, oiling and servicing which they usually perform before going off outy for the day.

The strike became effective immediately with more than 16,000 employes out. A total of 20 gates at the three plants were picketed in orderly fashion.

Pickets were on duty in two-hour shifts and, after being relieved by other strikers, went to various headquarters, set up at nearby points by the union, to obtain coffee and refreshments.

No production workers were permitted to enter the plants, but company officials, firemen and guards were allowed to enter on passes issued by the union.

Union officials announced all employes on strike still have a week and a day's pay coming to them. The union had voted to wait until the strike ended before getting this pay so that it would not be necessary for payroll clerks to enter the plants during the strike.

Officials of the union also announced they were foregoing their union salaries for the duration of the strike and National President Albert Fitzgerald announced from New York his national staff was adopting the same policy.

Lynn police were assigned to the various plants but Chief Edward D. Callahan said they would allow company police to handle picket lines unless there was disorder.

Some 700 workers were on strike at the supercharger plant and the foundry in Everett. Pickets were placed around the foundry, where only guards and specialty workers, whose absence might result in serious damage to equipment, were allowed to enter.

Eight hundred more workers were on strike at the Porter st. GE plant in East Boston and a picket line of almost 300, most of them women, marched in front of the building while the remaining union members held a mass meeting at Union Hall in Bennington st. to receive instructions on conduct of the strike.

The East Springfield Westinghouse plant was closed down completely by a walkout of 470 union members and 500 white collar workers.

Picketing began in orderly fashion at 5:30 a. m. with a line of about 700 strikers, half of them women.

A dozen company officials and six girl clerks were allowed to enter the plant on union passes and were greeted by lusty booing from the picket lines.

Union officials called a mass meeting of the strikers for 8 o'clock tonight at Springfield Municipal Auditorium at which time the strike program and progress will be outlined.

In Pittsfield small groups of pickets gathered in front of the four gates of the GE plant at 7 a. m., but their ranks were swelled during the morning.

Union officials planned to continue the mass picketing for a week at all the struck plants and after that to use 1000 pickets daily at the large plants and a proportionately smaller number at the other buildings.

Committees have been set up to supply food and refreshments for pickets, provide first aid in case of emergency, and give information on the strike's progress to the union membership.

Pledges of more than $10,000 in food and clothing have been obtained from a number of small merchants in Lynn, and strikers plan a canvass of larger stores to aid their cause.

They also have been assured of the support of the Lynn Labor Council, which represents more than 40,000 union workers in that city.

Picketing was resumed in Worcester and Whitinsville today as the walkout of steel workers went into its second day with the five affected plants shut down completely.

Some maintenance workers were permitted to enter the steel plants as their operations were necessary to prevent damage.

There was a brief flurry, however, outside the plant of the Worcester Pressed Steel Co. when pickets held up the personnel manager. Police formed a wedge and pushed him through the line and the pickets, after brief grumbling, made no further move to hinder him.

GE Chiefs Target

As the first 1000 pickets took up their stations outside the River Works and West Lynn plants, more than 300 of them carried placards, on which caustic references were made to GE Pres. Charles E. Wilson and Vice-Pres. Spicer. Some of the placards read:

"One Per Cent Spicer Is 100 Per Cent Wrong."

"Strictly Personal, Charles—Where Are Those Promises You Made?"

"The General Electric Can Pay $314,000,000 War Profits."

"All That Meat for Charlie—No Potatoes for Us."

"We Vets Demand Decent Wages."

Yank Hero Died Defying Jap Executioners

MANILA, Jan. 15 (AP)—Sgt. Isaac Landy died an unsung hero's death when he and nine comrades were executed as a wanton reprisal for escape of another American prisoner of war, an eyewitness testified today at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma.

Landy was one of 10 Yanks singled out for a "lesson" to 140 Americans forced to build bridges at Lumbang, Laguna Province, testified Mayor Moses Paraiso and Police Chief Quadencio Anonuevo of Lumbag. The 10 were lined up and shot by firing squads in a school yard.

The volley failed to kill Landy. Struggling to his feet, the badly-wounded Yank pointed to his heart and defied the Japs:

"Come on! Come on! Hit me here. Long live America!"

Successive volleys killed Landy. His and the other nine bodies were exhumed last month and reinterred with military honors.

General Alarm Fire in Portland

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 15—Six persons fled from nearby buildings and 35 postal trucks were removed from a garage as a general alarm fire threatened to spread through a business and residential area in Forest ave. today.

All available fire apparatus was ordered to the area, and firemen confined the flames to a wooden warehouse and painter's shop, both destroyed, a biscuit factory seriously damaged and one home slightly damaged. Loss was set unofficially at $60,000.

A near-blizzard raged during the height of the fire, but the wind fanned the flames over a municipal park instead of toward a congested tenement area.

"The Regular Army Offers You One of the World's Best Jobs"

WAR DEPARTMENT

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF STAFF

"The purpose of the Army's world-wide enlistment campaign is twofold: to release men of long and arduous war service who want to return to civilian life--and to build a strong Regular Army of volunteers.

"By our victory we have won the respect of the world. We can lose that respect, and with it our influence toward a just and peaceful world order, if we reduce our military forces to the point where they become weak or ineffective.

"The Congress has enacted and the President has approved legislation which makes enlistment in the Regular Army more attractive than ever before in our history. It gives the soldier a position in the new peacetime Army that merits the respect of all our citizens.

"Every American should know the valuable provisions in this new Armed Forces Voluntary Recruitment Act. They help place your Regular Army on the highest plane of any army on earth--with advanced study, training and travel at good pay in a career of high duty and responsibility.

"There is a solemn obligation on all of us to safeguard the victory we have won at such enormous cost. The rapid rebuilding of our Regular Army is a vital necessity if we are to meet that obligation."

Dwight D. Eisenhower

Pacific confident such assurances would be faithfully carried out."

He said in at least seven dispatches he received in July, 1941, from Arm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, intercepted Jap dispatches were quoted and identified by number. Kimmel said he was led to believe he was getting all such intelligence, and added:

"Under these circumstances a failure to send me important information of this character was not merely a withholding of intelligence. It partook of the nature of an affirmative misrepresentation."

The husky, gray-haired admiral testified he was not permitted to be present during questioning of other witnesses by the Roberts commission. He added Navy Secretary Forrestal twice denied him the right to be present and question witnesses in the 1945 Hewitt investigation.

Kimmel declared the Jap message setting up a harbor-chart espionage plan for Pearl Harbor pointed to an attack there. He said:

"Knowledge of a probable Jap attack on Pearl Harbor afforded an opportunity to ambush the Jap striking force. It would have suggested the wisdom of concentrating our resources to that end, rather than conserving them for the Marshall expedition."

He pointed out that a host of other Jap messages, setting up a deadline for a peace settlement and indicating an imminent break in relations, were decoded in Washington during October and November but not sent to him. Similarly he did not receive any part of the final Jap reply, 13 parts of which were decoded on Dec. 4, or the Dec. 7 intercept fixing time for delivery of the full 14-section note. Kimmel declared:

"I cannot understand now—I have never understood—I may never understand—why I was deprived of the information available in the Navy Department in Washington on Saturday night and Sunday morning."

The admiral charged that the Navy Department knew as a "fact" that the Japs were continuing peace negotiations after Nov. 26 "only as a device to cover up their plans."

It was on Nov. 26 that Secretary Hull gave Japan the U. S. note which Japan took as an "ultimatum." Kimmel stressed he was not informed of the contents of Hull's note.

Kimmel said if he'd had Washington's information on Nov. 28, 1941, he would have rejected the Navy's suggestion to send two carriers to Wake and Midway and would have recalled the third, the Saragoga, from the west coast.

Churchill, Wife Florida-Bound On Vacation

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—Winston Churchill, Britain's colorful wartime prime minister, was en route by train today to Miami, Fla., for the greater part of a six-week American visit.

His inevitable black cigar between his teeth, wearing the uniform of the Royal Yacht Squadron, he arrived here aboard the Queen Elizabeth and said he was not yet ready to retire from politics.

"I have no intention whatever of ceasing to lead the Conservative party until I am convinced that they have found someone to take my place, and I hope that will occur," he said.

Asked whether he believed the United Nations Organization was making progress toward permanent peace in the world, Churchill declared:

"You are as good a judge as I am. As to the need for such an organization, what else is there in the world to hope for?"

Churchill said he was "strongly in favor" of the joint American-British inquiry committee for Palestine, adding that the problem of a national Jewish home there was "too difficult for a single nation."

Churchill also said he will visit Hyde Park before he returns to England.

The former prime minister, accompanied by his wife, plans to see President Truman March 5 in Fulton, Mo., where Churchill will speak at Westminster College.

5th Fleet to Return To U. S., Says Chief

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 15 (AP)—The Fifth Fleet will return from Japan within three months, V. Adm. Frederick C. Sherman disclosed before leaving by plane to assume command of the fleet at Tokyo.

Sherman, who will relieve Adm. John H. Towers, said San Diego would be home base for the Fifth Fleet's aircraft carriers.

Date-Bran Muffins, good as cake!

(Take no sugar, no shortening!)

These delicious, new ALL-BRAN muffins made with chopped dates will have a big appeal for the "sweet toothers" in your family! They're so moist. And they're so tender—so good. That's because KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is milled extra-fine for golden softness.

2 cups Kellogg's ALL-BRAN	1 cup sifted flour
½ cup molasses	1 teaspoon soda
1½ cups milk	½ teaspoon salt
1 egg	½ cup chopped dates

Add KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN to molasses and milk and allow to soak for 15 minutes. Beat egg and add to first mixture. Add sifted dry ingredients and fruit. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 15 light, luscious muffins.

Good Nutrition, too!

ALL-BRAN is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat—contains a concentration of the protective food elements found in the whole grain. One-half cup provides over ½ your daily minimum need for iron. Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily!

Perjury Charge Against Colonel

LONDON, Jan. 15 (AP)—Charges of subornation of perjury, conspiracy, intimidation of witnesses and dereliction of duty against Col. James A. Kilian of Highland Park, Ill., commandant of an American Army detention camp at Lichfield, were ordered prepared today for consideration by a United States court-martial.

The court, trying nine enlisted men and two officers for alleged ill-treatment of American military prisoners at the camp, also recommended Kilian's removal from the London area, but that he remain in the United Kingdom, available as a witness.

The court's order was decided upon in a private session after Capt. Earl J. Carroll of San Bruno, Cal., a prosecutor, declared Kilian had instructed witnesses how to testify.

Buyers Vie for Scarce $15 Shoes in N. Y. Style Show

NEW YORK, Jan. 15 (AP)—First showings of warm-weather styles of women's shoes, ranging from $15 a pair upwards, yesterday drew the largest number of buyers in the history of the better shoe market.

A. H. Bogutz of Newton Elkin Shoe Co., president of the Guild of Better Shoe Manufacturers, said buyers were attempting to place orders for all shoes possible, but "they met with disappointment, as all manufacturers of better shoes find their leather supply situation more critical now than at any time during the past three and a half years."

He added that retail inventories were at the lowest level since 1942 and producers would have to adhere to quota allotments "for a long time to come."

There is a strong demand for white shoes, featured in all collections, but with the limited amount of white leather available demand is expected to far outrun the supply. The showing stressed return to two-tone shoes, absent during the war; sandalized styles, platform and extended soles and dressy footwear.

"RAGS"

BY

EDMUND VANCE COOKE

WE CALLED HIM "RAGS." HE WAS JUST A CUR,
BUT TWICE, ON THE WESTERN LINE,
THAT LITTLE OLD BUNCH OF FAITHFUL FUR
HAD OFFERED HIS LIFE FOR MINE.
AND ALL THAT HE GOT WAS BONES AND BREAD,
OR THE LEAVINGS OF SOLDIER GRUB,
BUT HE'D GIVE HIS HEART FOR A PAT ON THE HEAD,
OR A FRIENDLY TICKLE OR RUB.
AND RAGS GOT HOME WITH THE REGIMENT,
AND THEN, IN THE BREAKING AWAY,
WELL, WHETHER THEY STOLE HIM OR WHETHER HE WENT, I'M NOT PREPARED TO SAY.
BUT WE MUSTERED OUT, SOME TO BEER AND GRUEL,
AND SOME TO SHERRY AND SHAD,
AND I WENT BACK TO THE SAW-BONES SCHOOL,
WHERE I STILL WAS AN UNDERGRAD.

ONE DAY THEY TOOK US BUDDING M.D.'S
TO ONE OF THOSE INSTITUTES
WHERE THEY DEMONSTRATE EVERY NEW DISEASE
BY MEANS OF BISECTED BRUTES.
THEY HAD ONE ANIMAL TACKED AND TIED
AND SLIT LIKE A FULL-DRESSED FISH,
WITH HIS VITALS PUMPING AWAY INSIDE
AS PLEASANT AS ONE MIGHT WISH.
I STOPPED TO LOOK LIKE THE REST, OF COURSE,
AND THE BEAST'S EYES LEVELED MINE.
AND HIS SHORT TAIL THUMPED WITH A FEEBLE FORCE,
AND HE UTTERED A TENDER WHINE.
IT WAS RAGS, YES RAGS! WHO WAS MARTYRED THERE
WHO WAS QUARTERED AND CRUCIFIED,
AND HE WHINED THAT WHINE WHICH IS DOGGISH PRAYER
AND HE LICKED MY HAND—AND DIED.

AND I WAS NO BETTER IN PART NOR WHOLE
THAN THE GANG I WAS FOUND AMONG,
AND HIS INNOCENT BLOOD WAS ON THE SOUL
WHICH HE BLESSED WITH HIS DYING TONGUE.
WELL! I'VE SEEN MEN GO TO COURAGEOUS DEATH
IN THE AIR, ON SEA, ON LAND!
BUT ONLY A DOG WOULD SPEND HIS BREATH
IN A KISS FOR HIS MURDERER'S HAND.
AND IF THERE'S NO HEAVEN FOR LOVE LIKE THAT
FOR SUCH FOUR-LEGGED FEALTY—WELL!
IF I HAVE ANY CHOICE, I TELL YOU FLAT,
I'LL TAKE MY CHANCE IN HELL.

YOUR SUPPORT NEEDED

YOU MAY NOT be able to draw with the skill of Artist Burris Jenkins or write like Poet Edmund Vance Cooke, but you can phrase a simple, fervent appeal to your legislative representatives to support the Massachusetts anti-vivisection bill and other legislation to curb the unspeakable brutalities of vivisection. DO SO TODAY.

BUILD GARAGE, SAVE JOBS

IN AN INTERVIEW in the Boston Sunday Advertiser, Rep. Peter J. Jordan of Revere, the popular Republican leader in the Legislature, declared:

"The people of Massachusetts have every right in the world to expect courteous treatment when they drive to Boston, their capital city, for business or pleasure.

"They should not be pulled into court and stigmatized as public nuisances.

"They should not be embarrassed and humiliated.

"That is why I am glad to assist in sponsoring legislation for the immediate construction of a 5000-car garage under Boston Common."

Most legislators and the overwhelming majority of the people agree with Mr. Jordan.

When an automobile is kept out of Boston, the purchasing power of its occupants is also kept out.

Great business and industrial establishments, on which the jobs of millions of persons directly and indirectly depend, consequently suffer, and needless unemployment results.

Furthermore, as Mr. Jordan said, many persons living in distant parts of the Commonwealth would like to drive to Boston frequently to assist their Senators and Representatives in the presentation of important bills.

But they are deterred and discouraged by the absence of parking facilities and the threat of being arrested and fined.

The proposed garage, providing safety for 5000 cars and peace of mind for their owners, will make Boston a hospitable city and a more generally prosperous one.

It will not harm the venerable Common in any respect.

All the trees, monuments and lawns will remain, and the revenue from parking will give the city sufficient money to care for them properly.

Surveys have shown that the failure to develop the Common in this manner has cost the city and State more than fifty-five million dollars a year in lost jobs and business.

To prevent a continuation of this wanton waste, the garage should be built as soon as possible—certainly not later than next April.

MAINE'S BOAST

MAINE PROUDLY announces that more than 65 per cent of its rural areas have been equipped with electricity and estimates that an additional expenditure of $15,000,000 would virtually complete the program.

Money so spent is wisely spent.

Albe to enjoy the benefits and blessings of the Age of Electricity, the industries and farms of the Pine Tree State can compete more successfully in the national and international markets.

However, neither Maine nor any other New England State is producing and consuming electricity as abundantly as it should.

Few rivers in the area have been developed according to Twentieth Century standards.

Most dams were constructed in the era of the ox-cart and tallow candle, and are no more equipped for the generation of electricity than a sling-shot is equipped for the launching of an atomic bomb.

Practically all the great tidal basins and watersheds are in the same condition as they were when the Indians were setting up wigwams on their shores.

As a result, New England has to import coal and oil for fuel and power, and cannot offer the right kind of inducement to manufacturers whose operations require cheap and plentiful electricity.

The lawmakers of the whole section should take up the question of electricity immediately and resolve to do something about it.

NEW YEAR BABY: Who were the parents of the first baby born in the United States in 1946? Officially, the New Year began at the first stroke of 12 on the night of Dec. 31. A Los Angeles couple claims to have had the first baby of 1946. They say their child was born "at midnight," Dec. 31. However, there seems to be doubt whether the child arrived before or after the first stroke of 12. I know of two young couples who on last New Year's Day made a bet as to which will have a child born nearest to Jan. 1, 1947. Both couples are going to aim to have their next offspring born New Year's Day. This may prove an interesting experiment in baby planning. The result is awaited with interest.

SIDELIGHTS: Note a reference to a "tea-rose blonde." That must be a new kind of blonde. It is not on our Horses & Women Department's list of the 69 types of blondes. Sounds like a synthetic type of blonde. Our H. & W. experts list only natural blonde types . . . Russian Beluga caviar is now listed in New York fancy grocery shops at $1.49 an ounce. I don't care much for caviar. I am really a fellow of simple tastes. If I could resist buying 55-cent cigars, 65-cent highballs and stay away from 21 and the Stork Club I could easily save a lot of money.

PASSING BY: William M. Davey. Gloria Swanson's fifth husband. Don't claim to know your Hollywood history unless quick as a flash and a half you can name Gloria's four other husbands. Wallie Beery was her first and it seems to me but yesterday I used to see parked outside the Mack Sennett studios in Edendale a huge sky-blue colored automobile on which was romantically inscribed "Gloria and Wallie." That was about the time Gloria was playing in the supporting cast of a series of films of which a great Dane dog named Teddy was the star.

Gloria Swanson

CREPES SUZETTE: Henry Charpentier claims to have originated Crepes Suzette when he was chef at Monte Carlo. An old-timer who trod the Paris boulevards for many a year says Henri is talking through his chapeau. He says that for years there was a concoction, popular in France known as Crepes Gil Blas, consisting of French pancakes burned in brandy and sugar and then rolled in Bar le Duc jam. At the 1900 Paris Exposition a new liqueur was introduced. Maitre de Hotel Frederick, of the Restaurant de la Tour d'Argent, decided to improve on Crepes Gil Bas by using this liqueur as an added ingredient. This he did at a private dinner given by King Edward VII. At this dinner was a popular dancer named Mlle. Suzette who was greatly admired by His Majesty. In her honor the new dessert was named Crepes Suzette.

MULES & MEN: Discussing her beloved spouse, a San Franciscan said: "My husband was the handsomest thing in the world when I first married him—and still is, with his hat on." That is quite a significant observation. We all know a number of men who look snappy and youthful with their hats on and from 10 to 15 years older when they remove them. Baldness ages a man more than gray hair. Some men have resorted to toupees. But most fellows are reluctant to take that step. They fear a ribbing from friends will result. If a fellow starts to taking good care of his hair when around 25 he has an excellent chance of preventing baldness. In the interests of our male subscribers we shall from time to time mention some methods which are claimed to prevent baldness.

QUERY FROM CLIENT: Q—Did you once quote a poem written in praise of a daughter-in-law? A—I do not know of any poem entirely devoted to the subject you mention. However, I did quote the following, which is an excerpt from a long narrative poem by Jean Ingelow:

A sweeter woman ne'er drew breath
Than my son's wife Elizabeth.

In the event you wish poetically to praise your own daughter-in-law, perhaps you could adapt the lines to suit your purposes. As for example:

From Seattle, Wash.,
To Portland, Maine,
There's no sweeter gal
Than my son's wife Jane.

Or perhaps something like this:

Scream it to the heavens
Write it on a banner,
There's no sweeter girl
Than my son's wife Susanna.

WASHINGTON SCENE

By GEORGE DIXON

Distributed by King Features Synd. Reproduction Prohibited

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 — For the benefit of any of my constituents who may wish to be released from the armed forces but do not have the requisite number of points, I have a solution, offered free by the Navy—just start growing too fast.

Postmaster General Hannegan

This already has worked out in the case of 18-year-old Donald Holler of Jeannette, Pa., who grew two and a half inches during the six months and 19 days he was in the Navy. He went in at 6 feet 3½ inches and came out at 6 feet 6 inches.

The case of young Mr. Holler and his beanstalk proclivities was very interesting, but unfortunately it created a wide understanding. The idea seemed to get around that the Navy had established a height limit and that anyone over it was automatically entitled to discharge.

I received quite a few letters myself from Navy men, all claiming to be oversize and consequently in line for discharge. Always wishing to help the customers, I called the Navy and asked to be straightened out.

The fact is that no such thing as a height limit has been set. However, in cases of very tall sailors, the Navy makes what it calls a "medical survey." Each case is decided individually, with the medical surveyors having the last say.

Oversize sailors actually are a problem. They're too large for the bunks and it's hard keeping them outfitted.

But the one thing that is almost certain to give you an out is to display symptoms of continued growth.

(Note to Fireman First Class Albert W. Buescher, stationed at Solomons, Md.: Sorry, Pal, your 6 feet, 5 inches doesn't give you automatic release.)

POSTMASTER GENERAL HANNEGAN, who gets more problems presented to him than Mr. Anthony, has been requested to do something about a new type of mail thief.

The new woe was dumped on the Postmaster General by Postal Inspector W. L. Noah, in charge of the Western Division with headquarters in St. Louis. Parenthetically, it seems that humor is currently a bit strained in Mr. Hannegan's office because the communication I received from there points out that Noah does not make his inspectorial rounds in an ark.

(Note to Mr. Ike Gregg: If you don't want cracks like that printed, don't send them to me.)

It seems that this mail-swiper was seen in the act of committing his depredations in Fort Dodge, Ia., but took wings before he could be caught. He took wings because he happened to be a large black crow.

This crow was spotted pilfering from the mail boxes. Witnesses stated that he had deftly reached into the boxes with his beak, picked out letters, and then opened them one at a time. The witnesses swore he achieved the latter by holding the envelopes on the ground with a claw, and ripping them open with his beak.

The Postmaster General is still studying the problem, but can find nothing in the postal rules and regulations to guide him. He ignored a suggestion by Mr. Gregg that the crow be served with an order to show caws. (Phooey!)

MR. AL MORANO, secretary to Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce, is going around the Capitol taking bows because he has just become the father of a very young newborn baby girl.

VERY PUNGENT CRACK: On seeing a gentleman of his acquaintance ordering an elaborate dinner for a feminine companion after they had knocked off a couple of bottles of champagne, Barnee, the Old Baestro, commented:

"Champagne certainly brings out the a la carte in you!"

MAJ. GEN. LESLIE F. GROVES, the Army's atomic bomb man, has probably had to stand for more feeble-minded humor than any man in contemporary public life. In consequence he has developed a sort of sickly grimace which he hopes will be taken for an appreciative smile.

THE ARMY has turned more than 100,000 pairs of skis over to the Office of Surplus Property for sale. The skis, of the best solid hickory, originally cost $3,000,000.

Seems like an awful lot of skis to be turned loose on the public. But they are very handy for ambitious people who want to get along on their own. Own what?

MANY AMERICANS used to call England the Mother Country. But, now that so many of our boys have married over there, Mr. Oliver Lerch suggests we should call it:

"The Mother-in-Law Country."

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 15—Betty Hutton, with blonde locks cut short and as bubbling as ever, told me she is slated to do "The Perils of Pauline" — not the old-time serial Pearl White brought to the screen a quarter century ago, but the life story of Pearl, who was the first of the serial queens.

Betty Hutton

While Betty talked, my mind went back to the first time I ever met Pearl. I was on a Chicago newspaper and she came there with the old Pathe company, which made her popular serials. She was the first woman I ever saw smoke a cigaret in public and the whole College Inn, where we were, was agog, including this scribe. I used to hear from Pearl after she went to Paris to live. She died there a very rich woman.

WAS TALKING to Virginia Bruce Sunday and she's in a mad rush to get ready to leave for Mexico City Jan. 19. She's making a picture there called "Accusation" for Ali Ipar, a very rich young Turk. Her mother and the baby and the nurse are going with her. Virginia says the story intrigued her it is so good, and she said she thought it might be a nice change, so Mexico City gets ready to welcome an attractive blonde.

VERY WISE of M-G-M, I think, to put Tony Martin in a movie immediately, because he has a waiting audience, people who want to show Tony they are for him. He'll sing a song in the life story of Jerome Kern. And say, Tony and Rita Hayworth were dancing the other p. m. at Meadowbrook to Benny Goodman's music. She asked him to play "My Guy's Come Home" and they were closer than 12 o'clock as they danced.

I WAS AMUSED to have Sir Charles Mendl come in when I was broadcasting with a look of bewilderment still in his eyes. "You know," he told me, "I went to the Edgar Bergen show to see Mortimer Snerd. Thought he was a real person, and when he proved to be a dummy like Charlie McCarthy I couldn't get over it. I think many people must feel like I do—that Mortimer Snerd is a real country bumpkin." I was telling Edgar about Sir Charles, and he said, "It is amazing how many people think Mortimer is flesh and blood instead of a block of wood." You see, Edgar has never really explained it on the air as he has about Charlie.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The Betty Newling-Al Bloomingdale marriage plans are colder than what Sonja Henie skates on—so frigid, in fact, Al has taken off for New York to forget. Betty, on the other hand, has received a wire from Stewart Barthelmess (Dick's son) asking him if she'll give him two dates of the three days' leave he'll have in Los Angeles visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barthelmess. Stewart has been in the South Pacific 15 months and admires Betty greatly.

CREDIT THE King Brothers with a sense of humor. They've just signed Ben Hecht at $100,000 to write an original screen play, kidding their career in pictures. The story will be called "King for a Day" and Belita will play a dumb comedienne who comes to Hollywood to break into pictures. No, the Kings, who made themselves a barrel of dough with "Dillinger," won't play themselves on the screen. They have too much sense for that. They've engaged actors to play their parts.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: The June Haver-Victor Mature romance belongs to the dear, dead past; everyone on the 20th Century-Fox lot has gone crazy over Dave Rose's musical score for "Ramona"; Cornel Wilde is spending his suspension days doing a writing job on the "Life of Lord Byron," which he plans to make; Johnny Weissmuller may have matrimonial intentions where Brenda Hesler is concerned. Even so, he took time out to go stepping with Jean King, Greg Bautzer's secretary; there's still talk Bing Crosby is trying to buy the Red Sox baseball team; Red Skelton told me he could only get two suits when he got out of the Army and was doing a broadcast in one and sat on a freshly painted chair. You can imagine the result.

MARION HUTTON, Betty's sister, is expecting a baby, and is Betty excited! Kenneth McKenna, once married to Kay Francis, and former story editor at M-G-M, will take over M-G-M's London office; Turhan Bey, who seems to grow plumper every time I see him, with Yvonne de Carlo at the Beverly Tropics. Now that's a team—Turhan and Yvonne; Loretta Young's birthday present from Tom Lewis and her two sons is much admired. Tom gave her an antique brooch and the two boys gave her the earrings to match; Freddie Martin broke all cover charge records for hotels in 1945, at the Los Angeles Coconut Grove, which took in $211,000 from dancers who are mad for Martin. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Broadway

NEW YORK, Jan. 15—The Shuberts have no theater available for Maurice Chevalier's planned vaudeville appearance. He's asking $12,000 a week to go into a New York night club . . . Broadway was saddened this week by the deaths of Will Gordon, the drama editor, and Frank Vreeland, the press agent . . . AGVA is set to continue a fight for a six-day week in Manhattan night clubs. Local cafe men regard this as disastrous with the present operating costs . . . Danny Frankel of the James Kollar studio was rushed to Beth David Hospital for an emergency operation . . . John Steinbeck wants Charles Coburn for his next musical . . . Maury Maverick soon will be named to an important political post . . . Think-a-Drink Hoffman at the Carnival is thinking mostly about his assistant, Bea North. He'll produce orange blossoms for her in the very near future.

Paulette Goddard

TIN PAN ALLEY regulars are expressing surprise that the Old Sailor, Nick Kenny, didn't have his ASCAP classification upped a notch by the board. They point out that he's written 20 songs, 10 of which were hits, and amassed 150,000 credits on the major networks since his last promotion in 1942 . . . Benay Venuta is the big hit of "Nellie Bly" with a song called "That's Class" . . . Ted Peckham, who is back in the escort business, is sending his young men around in Rolls Royces, if you please, when the ladies they attend do not have cars of their own . . . Candy Montgomery of the new Copa show is a good feature story. Five weeks ago she was a dancer in the Carnival. Six months ago she was a page girl at NBC! . . . Susan Miller and a Brazilian lad are sniffing orange blossoms . . . The S. P. C. C. ended the brief stage career of 10-year-old Eddie Foy III in "The Red Mill" . . . Ben Marden's Riviera may open as a dance palace . . . The Walter Lewisohns of the wealthy clan have Reno in the bean-o . . . Bandleader Walter Perner of the Tavern-on-the-Green has written a ditty entitled "What Made Amber Forever Amorous?"

PAULETTE GODDARD has so many love affairs in "Diary of a Chambermaid" that Burgess Meredith calls it "Forever Paulette" . . . It's another of those pictures that are beating "Amber" to the punch and they all seem to have La Goddard in them . . . Armando is redecorating—switching back to his old leopard spots . . . Rosemarie Brancato will open the spring season at the city center with "Rigoletto" . . . Two mink coats were left at the Carnival the other night . . . Trend of the times: They both belonged to hat check girls!

JOHNNY MEYER, Howard Hughes' right-hand man, will waltz down the aisle with Janet Thomas, a pretty Hollywood starlet . . . Joel Herron, the bandleader at the Embassy Club, and Mara Williams, cutest of the Copacabana chorines, have Reno in the bean-o.

Boston After Dark

CARDINAL-DESIGNATE FRANCIS J. SPELLMAN, Archbishop of New York, made an unexpected and dramatic appearance in the tiny chapel of the Walter Reed Naval Hospital in Washington, D. C., to perform the ceremony uniting his lovely young niece, Kathleen Spellman of Boston, in marriage to Dr. Robert McLauren of Dallas, Tex.

CARDINAL - DESIGNATE SPELLMAN, the Whitman lad who became a primate of the Catholic Church in the United States and who served his country and fellow Catholics as vicar general of this country's military forces in World War II, arrived in Washington by private plane from New York shortly before his niece and her bridegroom were scheduled to be married by the Rev. John J. Frayne, who had been assigned to read the nuptial mass

IN RECOGNITION of Cardinal-Designate Spellman's arduous calendar of duties, it had been regarded by the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Martin Spellman, as an intrusion of family affairs into the routine of the busiest prelate in the church to ask him to officiate at his neece's wedding . . . The ceremony was planned as a simple affair, without pomp, and no more than 30 persons—close friends and relatives of the principals—were in attendance.

FATHER FRAYNE had clothed himself in his vestments in preparation for the ceremony when Cardinal-designate Spellman entered the vestry of the chapel . . . The visiting prelate and the priest exchanged greetings, and the exalted small group of guests soon was watching the bride's distinguished uncle administer the Sacrament to the young couple.

BOSTONIANS PRESENT included Dr. and Mrs. Martin H. Spellman . . . Sen. David I. Walsh . . . U. S. Atty. Edmond J. Brandon and Mrs. Brandon . . . Dr. Patrick J. Buckley of Brighton and Norfolk Downs . . . (Some 30 years ago Dr. Buckley, godfather of the bride and classmate at Georgetown of Dr. Spellman, was best man when Rev. Francis J. Spellman, then a young parish priest, attended the wedding in Washington of the parents of today's bride) . . . Kathleen's brothers, Dr. Robert and S 1c Francis Spellman, USNR . . . Mrs. Mary Posner of Chestnut Hill . . . School Committeeman Michael J. Ward and Mrs. Ward.

DR. AND MRS. McLAUREN met when they were on the house staff of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston . . . Kathleen had served her internship at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York after getting her degree from Cornell University . . . When she journeyed to Hollywood in 1944 to become the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Mayer, a flurry of interest was generated when stories filtered East that the charming young Boston physician was bent on a career in the movies . . . It is known that she was offered a role in "The Risen Soldier," the motion picture which M-G-M (Mr. Mayer's company) is making from Cardinal-designate Spellman's book of the same title . . . (Van Johnson is to play the leading male role) . . . But the charming Boston girl has elected a career in matrimony . . . She and Dr. McLauren are honeymooning at Sea Island, Ga.

IT'S A NEW RAVEN-TRESSED Mary Martin that theater-goers will see tonight on a Boston stage in a musical comedy role . . . The Texas-born beauty has given an ebony sheen to the red hair that once was a crowning feature of her good looks . . . Mary's 4-year-old daughter, by the way, is ranked by Hollywood-wise friends with Joan Bennett's youngest as the raving beauties of the very young set . . . Mary hopes to have the child with her after her show gets underway . . . Then—she hopes—little Miss Mary Halliday will get to see Mary's native Texas for the first time

MIKE TODD made a restrained, late visit to the party given in Miss Martin's honor at the Ritz-Carlton . . . Mike felt somewhat self-conscious about attending a party given by the producer, Michael Meyerberg, of a show opening the same night as Mike's "January Thaw" (at the Colonial) . . . It should be mentioned that advance heraldings of "January Thaw" are most glowing . . . The public will acclaim a new star in the person of the veteran actor, Charles Middleton, who plays the Jonathan role of Bellamy Partridge's original story which William Roos has adapted for the stage

MR. ROOS was presented with the same problem which George S. Kaufman faced in adapting John P. Marquand's great "The Late George Apley" for the stage . . . The problem was a surfeit of excellent material and the condensation thereof . . . If Mr. Todd and his craftsmen have done half the job with the Partridge material that Mr. Kaufman did with "The Late George Apley," the auguries for "January Thaw"—in event we have failed to accent the title sufficiently—is its name

State Housing Aid Bill Urged

Massachusetts will be gripped by a housing shortage for the next five years, Philip Nichols, State Housing Board chairman, declared today, urging the Legislative Mercantile Affairs Committee to take speedy action to provide accomodations for war veterans.

"Of 600,000 Massachusetts men and women returning from the armed forces," he said, "at least 80,000 have no homes to which they can return. There are more names on waiting lists at housing projects than there are apartments."

Nichols opposed plans for large scale projects with houses costing between $9000 and $12,500 or more, asserting thousands of veterans would be unable to buy or rent such homes.

He asked the committee to report favorably on the bill filed by his board calling for creation of a bureau within the board to aid in providing veterans with housing.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

HARPING IS A BEAUTY editor's stock in trade. But no matter how much harping she does on the importance of physical well-being and the romantic value of the lovely appearance of a slim, fine figure . . . it takes actual case histories to give credence to her words. And one dozen roses couldn't give us the boot we got from a recently received communication from a Wollaston reader. Her letter was perfectly and most opportunely timed.

Here's a girl who picked up our challenging gauntlet of a year ago . . . and returned the stunning and appreciative results as an anniversary present. Her letter is so enlightening . . . and can be such a thrilling inspiration to other women who need just this added spurt and spark to embark on the great experience of losing weight the sane and sensible way . . . that we're printing it in its entirety. Anonymously, though, lest we cause her some embarrassment.

"Dear Ruth Mugglebee," Mrs. H. C. of Wollaston writes. "I really owe you an apology for not having written to you before, but your new 28-day diet started in the American reminded me of my ungratefulness in not thanking you. For it was your articles of a year ago this month—remember?—which started me on the road to once again 'having a figure,' which I am proud to say I have kept—never again to lose, I hope!

"The fact that you streamlined yourself, spurred me on; for after the holidays, I was definitely, as you so aptly put it, a '4F.' It seemed that I felt it necessary to eat everything in sight, and, when my size 20 black velvet dress began to be tight, I decided it was certainly time to get on to myself.

"That was just about when you started your diet articles, and I decided, if you could do it, so could I. And I did. I went from 160 pounds to 124 pounds, which I still am, and where I intend to stay! And has it been worth it! I never yet cease to get a thrill out of being able once again to wear size 14 and sometimes size 12."

Need I encourage you further? There's no mystery about changing eating habits . . . only a know-how understanding as simple as A, B and C. Every woman intuitively knows when she's packing her frame with rich, rich desserts or more-than-good-for-the-figure starches.

But, too often . . . women are willing to risk the consequences. Procrastination is a human frailty . . . putting off to tomorrow what we should do today is as instinctive as living. It is something we are jolly well conscious of . . . but, nevertheless, a by-product of complex and accelerated tempo of life in a highly socialized world . . . that has too grasping a hold on some of us. Don't let your mirror be ashamed of you . . . when it isn't necessary.

During wartime when so many foods were scarce . . . it took sharp knowledge to arrange menus that were not only nourishing but agreeable to the figure-fine. Those were the days when a silhouette-conscious woman had something really to worry about. But that's so much water over the dam . . . and today it behooves each and every woman anxious to do an efficient job and look form-fitting in the bargain . . . to count her calories, but in health-giving terms. Not all of us should be size 14.

The world looks to America for the most beautiful women . . . and here it finds them . . . perfectly proportioned, fashion-conscious, figure-fit women reflecting the true American look of robust vitality and beauty. Are you one of them? Today you ate 1019 calories of nourishing, body-building food . . . a menu, well-balanced, but simultaneously weight-reducing.

In tomorrow's Boston Evening American, we'll tell you of our talk with New York fashion models.

He May Take Hint

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I've been going with two boys, but consider one of them my "best boy friend." Here's my problem: There's going to be a big dance in our community and I'm afraid the wrong young man is going to ask me first. I don't encourage him, but I feel that he's on the point of asking me to go. The other young man whom I like the best may ask me too; in fact, I'm almost certain about it. How can I answer the wrong boy, if he should ask me before the boy I really want to take me? MARY.

My dear Mary, you're asking me how to tell a fib for you, aren't you? If the "wrong boy" invites you first and you haven't any alibi in the form of a previous invitation, what can you say, if you want to stick to the truth, but yes or no?

Why not try to see the boy you hope is going to ask you, and lead the conversation around to the subject of the dance? He may take a hint. However, be careful not to turn down the unpopular boy's bid,

Neglected Teeth Cause Beauty Picture to Fade

SMILE PLEASE! Synonymous with American beauty is a bright, sparkling smile. Even teeth, healthy gums and a flashing smile are as much a part of your picture as your walk . . . your posture . . . your shining hair. How well we know it! We've just returned from New York still agog with the razzle-dazzle loveliness of those out-of-this world fashion models.

All of us can smile . . . but can all of us smile and show pretty teeth? Neglected teeth and gums soon cause the picture to fade. A precious three-minutes twice a day spent in the upkeep of that smile will reward you.

And so a noted beautician who makes beauty an all-inclusive responsibility . . . includes a dentifrice in her line as part and parcel of cosmetic achievement to maintain facial verve for the woman who cares.

Non-abrasive and the color of red raspberries . . . it has a faint minty odor and a wonderfully spicy flavor. Your mouth feels clean and refreshed after partaking of its benefit . . . and your teeth respond willingly to the lustrous white look. And if you use this dentifrice to massage your gums with . . . they'll always stay firm and healthy. Indisputably, American women have the most beautiful smiles in the world. Are you one of them?

For the name of this beauty dentifrice, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write Ruth Mugglebee, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Rolled Sandwich Answer To Special Party Problem

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A NOVEL sandwich to serve on a very special occasion? Well, the answer is a rolled one, for the effectiveness of attractive rolled sandwiches is indisputable. And there is no trick to the rolling —a medium of patience and gentle handling are the only watchwords.

Chopped chicken and ripe olives in a rich sauce make a luscious filling—and you will vote it the best combination you ever popped under the broiler

ROLLED CHICKEN SANDWICHES

2 eggs
1 tsp. flour
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup evaporated milk
Dash of cayenne
½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ cup chopped ripe olives
1½ cups chopped cooked chicken
1 pound loaf bread, unsliced
Butter or margarine

Beat eggs. Add flour and salt, blend well, then add milk. Cook over boiling water until thickened. Add cayenne and Worcestershire sauce, olives and chicken. Cut bread in thin slices lengthwise. Remove crusts, spread slices with butter and thickly with chicken mixture. Roll as for jelly roll. Wrap in waxed paper and chill thoroughly in the refrigerator until ready to toast. Slice as thickly as desired, and toast under the broiler. Makes 36 small sandwiches, or 18 hearty sandwiches.

Rolled loosely and cut generously, these chicken sandwiches are just right for a Sunday night snack or a festive luncheon accompaniment. Rolled more tightly and sliced daintily, they are the perfect crispy partner for any of a host of beverages. Rolled chicken sandwiches can facilitate your last-moment serving problem, for they are made ahead of time and kept in the refrigerator. It takes only a few minutes to slice and toast them, and behold —they are irresistible served piping hot.

Rolled sandwiches need very fresh bread; otherwise, they break in the rolling. They may be chilled or toasted, as desired, before serving.

Here are other suggestions for fillings.

ROLLED CELERY SANDWICHES

8½-in. slices fresh bread
Butter or margarine
8 stalks celery
Thousand Island Dressing

Spread the bread with butter and remove the crusts. Cut the celery stalks into lengths that will fit the bread. Fill each stalk with dressing. Place a stalk on each slice of bread and roll up like a jelly roll. Press together firmly, fastening with toothpicks if necessary. Wrap all, seam side down, in a damp cloth and chill for several hours. Canned asparagus tips, spread with mayonnaise may be substituted for the celery.

SANDWICH FILLINGS

In the following group of fillings, use any leftover ground or chopped meat such as beef, veal, lamb, pork, fowl, etc.

Combine ground meat with any desired seasonings and a little melted butter or margarine or mayonnaise to moisten.

Mix ground meat with anchovy paste and a little lemon juice.

Add to the ground meat mayonnaise and any desired pepperupper such as chopped green pepper, pimiento, celery, pickles, pickle relish, onion, chives, bit of garlic, or mashed hard-cooked egg yolk.

Cook ground meat with grated onion, tomato juice, soup or puree and chili powder until blended. Cool and use as a sandwich filling.

Grind cooked chicken liver with crisp bacon and moisten with catsup. Add chopped or sliced olives, if desired.

Grind or chop liver with hard-cooked eggs and onion. Season with salt, pepper, and a little melted butter, margarine, chicken fat or cream.

Grind cooked liver with cooked or uncooked vegetables and moisten with salad dressing.

Mix flaked fish with tartar sauce or mayonnaise with chopped pickles, parsley, olives and lemon juice.

Mix flaked fish with mashed yolks of hard-cooked eggs. Thin mayonnaise with a little lemon juice and add together with capers or chopped pickles.

FLAVORED BUTTER FILLINGS

To ¼ cup well creamed butter or margarine, add one of the following combinations:

1 to 2 tbsp. catsup and a few drops Worcestershire, tabasco, or onion juice.

1 to 2 tbsp. drained chili sauce with a few drops lemon juice.

1 tbsp. chives, minced or cut with scissors.

Yolk of 1 to 2 hard-cooked eggs mashed. This makes a yellow butter.

1 to 2 tbsp. Roquefort type or blue cheese, creamed. Blend well.

Fashion

ONE OF THE most talked of suits at the recent New York showings is this Nettie Rosenstein darling . . . a very young suit of navy wool . . . with a double row of buttons and Buster Brown collar on its hip-length box jacket. It imparts such an air of carefully carefree grooming . . . so comfortable but so very chic . . . especially with the navy rolled-back Breton sailor. Here's spring freshness at its best.

Honor Specialists Group at Trans-Lux

The screen's most chilling horror specialists, Lon Chaney, John Carradine and Glenn Strange, team up in Universal's "House of Dracula," which comes to the Trans-Lux screen tomorrow.

The original screen play by Edward T. Lowe is concerned with the dubious surgical experiments of a noted European scientist, played by Onslow Stevens. Count Dracula (Carradine) is another of the scientist's subjects. It is the batman's interest in the surgeon's beautiful assistant (Martha O'Driscoll) that brings the plot to its eerie climax. Jane Adams, as a lunchback, is killed by the Frankenstein fiend. The co-feature is "Under Western Skies."

New Comedy At Copley

By PEGGY DOYLE

Since Gertrude Lawrence first made a footlights' appointment with a psychiatrist, there has been no holiday for Freud on stage or screen.

This trend for mental exploration in full view and hearing of an audience took a turn for the worse last night at the Copley Theater, where "By Appointment Only," a new comedy by Bene Russell, was presented by David Wolper.

Playwright Russell's psychiatrist, hoping to convince his doubting wife that he has cured four unusual patients, invites them home for a week-end at his summer home in suburban New York. One of them would have put a monkey-wrench into a meeting for the encouragement of tolerance.

Four of them, with their caricatured "You Can't Take It With You" strains, are too much for one play, let alone one week-end.

The pudgy Benny Baker, gotten up like a Japanese sandman, plays "a Broadway master of ceremonies with an inferiority complex" who chases after the doctor's blonde daughter like a Marx brother. Catharine Doucet, insisting that she is the doctor's wife in her most dulcet tones, takes over like Grant took Richmond. Lowell Judson, as a Back Bay socialite, has a passion for putting poison in the other fellow's dessert.

The only amusing one of the quartet is Daniel Ocko's Ivan Alexis Dagelov who takes a swipe at Dali and the other soul-painters.

Taylor Holmes, too, as the psychiatrist's resourceful brother-in-law, makes more of his role than the script indicates by reason of his expert timing and comedy sense.

The prospect of spending the evening with Dr. Myles' four patients was not too promising to this aisle-sitter. The experience suggests that the doctor could use a 40-hour-week schedule . . . with no home work.

Walter N. Greaza, seen here in "The Overtons," plays the unrewarding if overtime role of the psychiatrist. Nancy Sheridan, as his remarkably co-operative wife, is thoroughly charming.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15 (AP) —The most acute laundry problem in Los Angeles:

A thief stole the only washing machine in a trailer court where 125 World War II veterans and their wives live.

More than 100 of them have babies.

Priest 10-7 Choice Over Zivic for Garden Bout

By JACK CONWAY

AL (RED) PRIEST of Cambridge, who came up from an All-America boxing tournament and three years of service in the Navy to become New England's most sensational boxer, will shoot for a national ring reputation tonight when he battles Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, former world's welterweight champion, in a 10-round bout of a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden. The aggressive, hard-hitting Priest has been installed a 10 to 7 favorite as a result of his run of kayo victories.

World War I gave Young Kloby to the New England boxing game. In bouts staged by Johnny Cuddy in Lawrence, and by Roy Green and other promoters in Boston and in other parts of New England, Kloby drew $250,000.

Al Priest

World War II has produced Priest, and he is likely to shatter Kloby's record at the box office to tiny pieces. "Red" has more followers than any boxer in this section of the country. His home town rooters bought a block of $3000 worth of tickets. It is believed that the gate receipts tonight will top $15,000.

While past his peak as a fighter, Zivic is expected to give Priest the busiest evening of his fistic career. Fritzie is aggressive, hits hard with each hand and never takes a backward step when in the ring.

Tunney Discusses Diet

GENE TUNNEY talked diet while he ate an Italian dinner in the company of Mal Massucco, picture editor, and this writer at Lena's on Massachusetts ave.

"I usually eat only two times a day," said the former heavyweight champion of the world. "I find that this system, with plenty of exercise, keeps weight close to 203 pounds. I like to have a well balanced meal, and have it properly cooked."

Tunney said that he enjoyed the Italian food as served at Lena's. When introduced to Tunney, the restaurant owner told the former heavyweight champion that she once conducted a training camp at Sharon for boxers, and that she found that with selected foods, cooked properly, that boxers did not pack on excess weight.

Tunney believes in regular exercise, and he recommends walking as a fine exercise. Unlike some of the doctors, Tunney says there is not any reason why men over 40 years of age cannot play golf and tennis provided they do it regularly.

"When I visited with William Randolph Hearst at San Simeon, he played an excellent game of tennis," said Tunney. "Mr. Hearst has played tennis for years, and his fine health is the best tribute that tennis could receive."

Sportsmen's Show

FLOYD BELL informs me that the New England Sportsmens Show will open at Mechanics Building on Feb. 2 and operate through Feb. 10.

"The show goes back to the old idea of being a real Sportsmen's Show," said Floyd. "While it will include all of the popular features such as Sharkey, the talking seal; Orin Benson's dogs, champion log rollers, archers, marksmen and log choppers, Mechanics Building will have more outdoors sports material on display than ever. There will be the newest things in boats from kayaks to luxury yachts, and there will be a model airplane exhibition."

Random Shots at Target

TOM SHEHAN, a former member of the staff of the Army newspaper "Yank," has received his discharge from service . . . Tom says the best seller, "The Best of the Yank," which was put in book form, sold more than 200,000 . . . When the original publishers of the book ran out of paper, they sold the rights to the book to a Cleveland publisher.

Shehan will leave for Phoenix, Ariz., Thursday, to join Freddy Corcoran and his professional golfers . . . Tom will write special stories on golf.

Paul Hines, Jr., who did such a fine job on writing for Army newspapers, is expected to be back in civilian life soon . . . Paul is the son of Col. Paul Hines and Mrs. Hines . . . The latter was a daughter of the late C. O'Connell Galvin who had a gifted pen.

Lou Smith and Mrs. Smith are celebrating a wedding anniversary today in New York.

Dennis Patrick Brady, of New York, 18-year-old ring star who has scored a long list of kayo victories in bouts in Hartford, will clash with Vinnie Vazzo of Revere in a 10-round bout at a Sharkey A. A. show at the Arena on Friday night.

Young Ice Stars Help Out Derby

New England's young figure skaters, the future successors to such greats as Maribel Vinson, Joan Tozzer and Gretchen Merrill, will move into the limelight a week from Sunday at the Record-American Silver Skates Derby.

The Commonwealth Skating Club of Boston will be represented by five of Edi Scholdan's prize pupils. Heading the list is Janie Weiss of Walpole who is eastern junior champion. With her will be Kay Lindstrom, Elizabeth Conway, Justin Smith and Marion Murphy.

Although Jane Weiss is still a high school youngster she is a Silver Skates veteran in competition having appeared in the last four Garden Derby classics. It will be the third Derby for Elizabeth Conway and the second visit for the other three amateur stars.

In addition to these frosted stars of tomorrow, there will be several other brilliant skaters on the program and they will be announced in the very near future.

Meanwhile the closing date for all entrants is drawing nearer and nearer. Closing time is Thursday at midnight. Any letter postmarked after midnight of Jan. 17 will not be accepted.

There's still plenty of room for entrants, so if you wish to enter the 11th annual Derby, just fill out the accompanying entry blank and mail it immediately.

Derby Queen's Sister Bids for Skates Title

A lovely little lady from Worcester, Coralie O'Connor, will try to keep the family name in headlines at the thrilling Silver Skates Derby in the Boston Garden one week from Sunday afternoon. And her bid for fame in the midget class will be just one of dozens such colorful efforts in this greatest of winter skating thrillers, which has become a New England classic in its many years of production.

Many another youngster will be in there, too, trying to carry on where older brothers and sisters left off.

Coralie's letter accompanying her entry blank offers a perfect example of the hold the Silver Skates Derby has gained on the youth of the section.

Dainty eleven-year-old Coralie has her heart set on following in the footsteps of her sister, Lois Ann.

Lois Ann could not compete as midget or juvenile for these two classes did not exist until five years ago. But in the older groups, the big sister did all right—she captured the junior, intermediate and senior championships in a row.

She was the only girl to ever turn this trick and by taking the senior title last winter, Lois Ann is now through with Silver Skates competition for there can be no defending champions.

However, Coralie is ready to take over. With her entry blank she sent a note which read in part:

"Dear Editor:

"Please find my entry for the midget race in your Silver Skates Derby. I am going in this year and try real hard to be the midget winner because of the reputation my sister Lois Ann won. She won the junior, intermediate and senior races one after the other.

"How I would like to win something she didn't. Wouldn't it be fun at home if I could sport a trophy alongside of all hers.

"I wish the weather would turn cold so I could get a lot of practicing in because here in Worcester we have no place to skate unless it is out of doors and my folks will not let me go to Boston at night.

"It's a grand show and Mom and Dad will be rooting for me that day. Sincerely

"CORALIE O'CONNOR."

That's the letter and that is one of the many reasons why the Record-American has made the Silver Skates Derby an annual fixture.

By the way — entries close Thursday at midnight. Remember, no post entries will be accepted. Better fill that blank out now and send it along.

Hayes Captures N. E. Title in 12

By BILL SMITH

The meteoric rise of Timothy "Buddy" Hayes, 124½, South End, reached a happy medium last night at Mechanics Building when he won a split decision over Jackie Harris, 125½, Malden and also became the New England featherweight champion before 5000 fans who paid gross receipts of $9,092 with a net of $7178 in the feature bout of the Callahan A. C. show.

The tall, lanky, youngster from the South End, played havoc with the boring in tactics of Harris, as he jabbed and hooked the latter at will during the 12-round title contest.

Buddy was 100-30 favorite with the betting fraternity and although he staggered through the last two rounds after piling up a commanding lead, he gave his backers many anxious moments.

Harris unleashed a whirlawayfinish and punched Hayes all over the ring in the 11th and 12th frames but Hayes was content to hang on, knowing he had the decision and championship in his grasp.

The votes of the judges were for Hayes with Referee Tommy Rawson calling it a draw. Rawson must have given Harris credit for forcing the issue but how he could possibly see the fight as a draw is something only a fortune teller could answer.

Judges were Tom McNeeley and Joe Blumsack with referees Eddie Curley and Tommy Rawson, Jr.

Billy Marcus, 129½, Hartford, was on the losing end of a T. K. O. verdict in 2:40 of the 10th and final which was collected by Spider Armstrong, 134, Boston, in the semi-final.

It was no tea party for Joe Albanese, 159, East Boston, but the Noddle Islander came back from a knockdown to sweep the vote of all three officials in a hard fought six-rounder over Young Brown Bomber, 157, Boston.

A last round flurry gave Harold Christensen, 167, Hyde Park, a split decision over Tom McKeagney, 164, Quincy, in a very evenly matched six-rounder. Judge Tom McNeeley and Referee Tommy Rawson voted for Christensen with Judge Joe Blumsack calling it a draw.

Freddie Hollums, 140½, stopped Joe Palaza, 136½, Roxbury, in three rounds. Palaza was dropped for a seven toll in the third round but was saved by the bell.

Bruins' Casualty List Continues to Mount

By BILL GRIMES

The injury jinx, which has been hovering over the Bruins for a couple of weeks is working overtime and doing all right.

During the practice session yesterday at the Garden, little Kenny Smith was nicked for three stitches over his right eye and "Squire" Jack Crawford was cracked on the left ankle.

Bill Cowley, who was hurt 10 days ago in Montreal, is expected back this week but it will be some time before his condition permits returning to active service.

Milt Schmidt has a chipped bone on the middle finger of his right hand. After practicing yesterday, "Schmiddy" was X-rayed by Dr. Paul A. Butler and the plates showed the break. Due to the fact that it would be difficult for him to hold his stick and shoot, it is doubtful if Schmidt will play against Rangers tomorrow night.

The Bruins are really in a bad way, physically. And, they'll be in even worse straits if Milt Schmidt is sidelined for the next four games. The Rossmen have home and home series coming up this week with Rangers and Canadiens and must be strengthened, otherwise they'll lose ground.

Manager Art Ross and Coach "Dit" Clapper were in a huddle yesterday afternoon at the Bruins office. There's supposed to be a trade on with the Rhode Island Reds of the American Hockey Ass'n. Manager Ross is trying to wean a defense man from Lou Pieri, owner of the Providence club, in exchange for a couple of Hago Harrington's Olympics.

Although they are in the playoff bracket by a margin of seven points over the Maple Leafs and 10 over Rangers, and have four games in hand on Toronto and three on New York, the Bruins cannot afford to pass up any openings.

With Syl Apps out of action, the Maple Leafs are going to have trouble keeping out in front of Rangers. And, it will be advisable for the Bruins to keep an eye on Frankie Boucher's Blue Shirts.

The Rangers have started to click. Mgr. Lester Patrick has turned loose some of the deadwood and the club has taken on a new lease of life. In their last six games, Rangers have annexed eight out of a possible 12 points. On that stretch

Harvard's Champ To Test Eli Attack

One of the least publicized but most competent of New England's collegiate basketball stars will play a guard position for Harvard against Yale tomorrow night at the Arena (8:15). He is Paul Champion, a native of Kentucky who came to Harvard from Denison College.

Champion was termed by HC coach Doggie Julian "the best defensive player my team has faced this season." He was great against the Crusaders but he also was great in Harvard's early season games.

Against the Boston University team that defeated Tufts Saturday, Champion held Goodreault to 6 points in 31 minutes. When Champion left the game for a rest, Goodreault immediately compiled 11 points. Against Brown, he held talented Capt. Grimshaw to 5 points in 30 minutes.

Champion is no giant. He stands 6 feet and weighs 180 pounds. In addition to his basketball ability, he played end on Harvard's varsity last fall.

Champion has been teaming with Saul Mariaschin at the guard posts but may be forced to struggle along without him tomorrow. Mariaschin broke an ankle playing baseball last June, and Saturday against HC suffered a recurrence of the injury.

He was playing as effectively as Champion and when he left the game Harvard was leading by a point. But thereupon George Kaftan broke loose and led the Crusaders to victory.

Most publicized member of tomorrow's combatants is Tony Lavelli of Yale. The former Somerville high ace has averaged 20 points a game for the Blue and has been stealing the thunder of Paul Walker and Rabbit Wrastler, stars of the Yale team last winter.

This will be Harvard's last game until Feb. 2 because examinations start tomorrow. However, Coach Stahl hopes to get in a practice game or two with some service teams.

Warren Huston Asks Clinic for Coaches

By MIKE GILLOOLY

In spite of the fact that his Newton High School basketball teams have chalked up 20 victories in 21 starts in the past two seasons, Coach Warren Huston is all in favor of the

He offered this idea to the college coaches, to act as teachers, at the weekly meeting of the Basketball Writers' Ass'n at the Hotel Lenox.

Huston, like other present day coaches, had little basketball background as a schoolboy a dozen years ago. At Springfield College, Huston preferred hockey to such a degree that he organized an ice team that actually drew talent from the basketball ranks. Now, he believes that he's lacking in fundamentals that college coaches could teach a clinic of schoolboy coaches.

Coach Huston readily admits that he picked up his basketball as a coach in the past seven years. He was at Bristol, R. I., for three years; moved to Mt. Hermon for one year and then took over his present Newton post. In four seasons at Newton, he's produced two Tech Tourney contenders although "more on the ability of the boys than through my coaching."

And his present team, undefeated in five starts going into this afternoon's game with Arlington and then tackling Brookline High at the Garden Thursday, is a better balanced outfit than the group last fall that chalked up a 15-1 mark last spring.

Newton has four of five starters back this year. Bob Scanlon, 5:10, and George Patterson, 5:11, retain their ratings as first string forwards; Jim Teschner, and blond Art Weinstock, both 5:11, return as guards. At center (and Coach Gordie Connors of Winthrop will be peeved when he sees this), Coach Huston has 6:4 inch Rod Jennings, a junior who transferred from Winthrop's junior high schools.

As a first call spare, Newton has Leverett Brimblcom, a 6 footer who might have been a starter last season if he hadn't been ineligible. He's back in good standing now and he's giving the regulars plenty to worry about.

Newton's game with Brookline in the schoolboy program Thursday afternoon will be a regularly scheduled Suburban League contest . . . Other Garden tilts will pit Public Latin against neighbor Commerce and Hyde Park against Boston Tech . . . it will be Commerce's second start on the North Station floor.

Official Eddie Boyle, and Coach "Doggie" Julian of Holy Cross and Gen. Al McClellan of B. C. were all in favor of the "clinic" for schoolboy coaches

59 Kept Eligible For Hambletonian

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 15 (AP)—Fifty-nine 3-year-old trotters have been kept eligible for the renewal of the $50,000 Hambletonian Stake at Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 7, by payment of $250 on Jen. 1, June Van Gundy, secretary of the Hambletonian Society, said today.

Heading the largest field in recent years are all of the 2-year-old stars of 1945, including Gibson White's Deanna, champion of the juvenile trotters with a record of 2:04, and Mrs. James B. Johnson, Jr.'s Bombs Away of Rochester, Mich.

Bombs Away, a $36,500 purchase as a yearling, earned a mark of 2:04¼. Other leading candidates include E. Roland Harriman's Walter Spencer of New York; Aaron Williams' Westfield Girl and Theone of Corning, N. Y.; Victory Song, for which Mrs. Johnson paid $37,500 as a yearling; Scotch Fez and Onolee Hanover, owned by S. A. Wathem and son of Ft. Fairfield, Me., and McSpencer from the Ridgeway Stable of Greenwich, Ct.

At the same time Van Grundy announced payments of $200 each had been made on 113 trotters which wil be eligible for the 1947 renewal of the rich classic. The Coaching Club trotting stake for 3-year-old fillies attracted a field of 24 for its renewal at Goshen's half-mile track in July. Signs of Old-fashioned Hospitality

★There's a quality about William Penn Whiskey that recalls the great days when men dined at quaint wayside inns and rolled their liquors critically on the tongue. ★ Actually, it's a genial, old-fashioned kind of goodness, both in flavor and fragrance, that one meets with too rarely in these hurried times, and that comes of great skill and long experience. Try William Penn . . . today.
